

Office of the Chief

MESSAGE FROM THE CHIEF:

On behalf of the over 900 dedicated men and women of the Rochester Police Department, I am pleased to present our Annual Report for 2009. I am extremely proud of the department's performance during the past year which saw significant gains in making Rochester a safer, more habitable city for everyone. I would like to thank Mayor Robert J. Duffy, City Council and the community for the support and cooperation given to the Police Department throughout the year.

During 2009, the Rochester community experienced noteworthy decreases in crime in almost every category. Many of these decreases were the lowest in nearly 25 years. Year-end crime statistics are evident of the hard work done by the men and women of this organization, both sworn and non-sworn. I extend my thanks to the members of the Chief's Office, Operations Bureau and Administration Bureau for their efforts in achieving this success.

Over the past year, the country witnessed a shocking number of violent attacks against law enforcement officers. Rochester did not escape this trend. While we were fortunate not to experience any fatalities, three members of our organization suffered significant injuries while doing the job their department and the community expect them to do. I credit the strong bond of our law enforcement family for sustaining us when our officers encounter instances of great danger.

The department continued to introduce technology as part of our strategic plan to reduce violent crime in our community in 2009. Several initiatives were created and implemented that improved safety for officers as well as for the citizens they serve. The current camera surveillance system was expanded to increase coverage in areas where safety and crime are an issue. The department also transitioned to digital radios to improve police communications, and installed automatic vehicle locators (AVL) in all patrol vehicles to provide more efficient and effective customer service.

The objective of any law enforcement entity is to save lives while developing strategic initiatives to reduce criminal activity. The implementation of DDACTS (Data Driven Approaches to Crime and Traffic Safety) helped reduce traffic accidents and criminal activity. Utilizing traffic stops, officers are able to both educate citizens about vehicle and traffic laws and reduce the incidents of gun trafficking in vehicles. Rochester was chosen as one of seven cities in the country to pilot this program.

Much of the success realized in 2009 involved working with partner agencies to develop new ideas to combat criminal activity. Operation Super Board Up is a crime prevention program implemented in conjunction with the Rochester Fire Department and the City of Rochester Department of Environmental Services. The program identifies and demolishes vacant properties in the city often used for criminal activity and arson fires.

In 2009, the RPD worked alongside the Monroe County District Attorney's Office and the United States Attorney's Office to crack down on various groups in the community engaged in organized criminal activity. Federal RICO (Racketeering Influenced & Corrupt Organizations Act) statutes were applied to these groups in order to increase the penalty for such crimes. Use of RICO laws helped send a message that we will use every means available through the criminal justice system to aggressively pursue those who violate the law.

The RPD launched a dynamic recruitment campaign in 2009 that resulted in a considerable increase in the number of qualified applicants for the police civil service exam. This effort will continue in 2010 through the implementation of new ideas that will allow the department to attract a diverse pool of qualified candidates.

Economic viability remains an important part of the City's efforts to make Rochester the best mid-sized city in America. Downtown Rochester is recognized as a focal point for citizens, visitors, and businesspeople. In 2009, the RPD increased foot patrols, mounted patrols and bicycle patrols to create omnipresence in the center city area that led to a more positive perception of the downtown area.

While it is gratifying to see the advances made in 2009, we recognize that much more work lies ahead. I want to thank every person in the department for the hard work, bravery and dedication they demonstrate every day. I also extend my thanks to the citizens of Rochester for the support and enthusiasm they give to the Police Department. Neighborhood groups, community associations, business and citizen involvement remain a vital aspect of continuing the outstanding results of the past year. With the public's help, RPD will continue to carry out its mission of CRIME REDUCTION, SERVICE & PROFESSIONALISM!

ACCREDITATION

Ensures that law enforcement agencies provide progressive, customer-focused services and meet the highest professional standards.

The Rochester Police Department received national recognition upon accreditation from the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies, Inc. (CALEA) in 1987 and the New York State Law Enforcement Accreditation Program (NYSLEAP) in 1990. Under both programs, these accrediting agencies rigorously review Department practices for compliance with recognized and accepted law enforcement standards.

Accreditation is granted for three years by CALEA and for five years by New York State. During these periods, the agency must comply with all applicable standards. A report is submitted annually to each accrediting body, attesting to continued compliance. At the end of each accreditation period, the agency undergoes a thorough on-site assessment to verify compliance for its re-accreditation.

As a leading law enforcement agency, members of the Rochester Police Department are proud of the high quality of service for which they have been recognized, and continue to pursue excellence in law enforcement. This year during the on-site assessment, the RPD received CALEA's highest designation, "Flagship Agency". The RPD reached this goal by meeting all mandatory and 96% optional standards set forth by CALEA.

THE FIREARMS TRAINING UNIT (FTU)

The Unit is also a resource for all other police departments in the county and surrounding regions, including the FBI, ATF, US Border Patrol, US Immigration & Customs, US Marshall, US Federal Detention, NY Attorney General's Office, and military units.

The Unit maintains an inventory of all Department weapons and ammunition, including specialized weapons, gas launchers, bean bag guns and related support equipment. In 2008, the Unit researched and facilitated the purchase of new handguns and holsters, followed by the transitional training. FTU staff members conduct all repairs on weapons except for the most complex.

All firearms related training is conducted in the 16 position indoor range or the 21 position outdoor range. The indoor range targets have the capability of turning 180 degrees with a maximum distance of 25 yards.

THE IN-SERVICE TRAINING UNIT

Administration Bureau

RECRUITMENT UNIT

The human resources of any organization are usually its key ingredient for success. Employees provide the services, operate the technology, and manage resources and other employees. Employees are also the most unpredictable resources and often incur the greatest costs. These circumstances make the recruitment and selection of the right employee a matter of fundamental importance.

Recruitment is particularly important for the Rochester Police Department. In order to function properly, police services need to maintain high levels of trust and cooperation with other governmental agencies and with the citizens of Rochester. The selection of the right people as police officers is essential if public confidence in the integrity and effectiveness of the police services is to be established and maintained.

In 2009, the Department launched an aggressive recruitment campaign in an effort to increase the number of qualified applicants to partake in our civil service exam. As a direct result of these efforts the number of applicants increased in 2009 as we experienced an increase in the number of individuals that signed up for the test. In 2010, the Professional Development Section will continue their efforts of recruitment to make the RPD more culturally diverse.

2009 PART I OFFENSES

Part I and Part II Offenses are defined in accordance with the Uniform Crime Reporting Program, a cooperative statistical effort of more than 17,000 city, county, and state law enforcement agencies. Administered by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) since 1930, the Program's primary purpose is to generate reliable statistics for use in law enforcement administration and operation. The data, which has become one of the leading social indicators of our nation, is reported by the Rochester Police Department to the New York State Division of Criminal Justice Services, and is forwarded to the FBI.

CALLS FOR SERVICE

The Rochester Police Department tracks all services to the community by "Calls for Service", "Police Responses", and "Self-Initiated Activities". "Calls for Service" are 911 calls dispatched by the Emergency Communications Department (ECD). A "Police Response" occurs each time an additional unit provides service at a given scene. As one call for service may result in multiple units in response, the number of responses is likely to be greater than the number of calls for service. "Self-Initiated Activity" is an event the officer comes across on the beat or initiates.

ECD assigns each specific incident a Crime Report number. The "CR" number is a unique number assigned to each event by which all reports, tickets, arrests, etc. can be traced. When one needs to refer back to a given incident, searches can be conducted by entry of the CR number, as well as the date or location of the incident. These retrievals are performed in the RPD Police Activity Tracking System (PATS), an in-house computer application that maintains data on all RPD activity and responses transferred from ECD to the RPD Informations Systems Unit.

HIGHLIGHTS OF 2009

DATA DRIVEN APPROACHES TO CRIME & TRAFFIC SAFETY (DDACTS)

Through the implementation of DDACTS, we are able to save lives using intelligence driven data. Utilizing vehicle stops, officers educated our citizens about vehicle & traffic laws in hopes of reducing traffic crashes, thus saving lives. The DDACTS initiative also provided RPD with the added benefit of deterring individuals from carrying firearms, as a result of increased traffic enforcement. The RPD became one of seven cities to be used as a pilot site for the initiative.

ADVENT OF TECHNOLOGY

The RPD is committed to effectively utilizing new technologies to ensure that we are always on the cutting edge of crime fighting techniques. Through our efforts the Department has on a continual basis, advanced the current camera surveillance system used across the Rochester community to keep our neighborhoods safe for our officers and citizens; transitioned to digital radios to improve officer safety for our members. The implementation of automatic vehicle locators (AVL) to be installed in all of our patrol vehicles, which will increase officer safety and help manage the efficiency of our resources.

ENHANCED POLICE VISIBILITY IN THE DOWNTOWN AREA

Downtown Rochester, just like all of our neighborhoods, is an important geographical area for economic development to occur. Every entity in city government has a responsibility to ensure a commitment to the success of Downtown. We have enhanced police visibility in the Center City area to create an omni-presence for the safety of our citizens, visitors, and those conducting business. Through the use of foot patrols, mounted patrols, and bicycle patrols we have succeeded in accomplishing our mission to improve the perception of Downtown Rochester.

RACKETEERING INFLUENCED AND CORRUPT ORGANIZATIONS ACT (RICO)

In 2009, the RPD along with our partners in the Monroe County District Attorney's Office and the United States Attorney's Office went after various organized groups in our community that took part in criminal activity. The RICO statutes were applied to increase the severity of penalties for crimes performed in conjunction with organized crime. The goal is to send a message to individuals in our community that we will employ the weight of the criminal justice system to aggressively go after individuals in our community that violate the law.

OPERATION SUPER BOARD UP

Operation Super Board Up is a crime prevention program implemented in conjunction with the RPD, Rochester Fire Department and the Department of Environmental Services. Operation Super Board Up attempts to identify vacant houses in the city, which are often used for safe havens for criminal activity and arson fires. Once identified, the vacant properties are demolished in hopes to prevent criminal activity at the properties.

About the Department

THE "DO THE RIGHT THING" PROGRAM

Began in Rochester in 1996, and was adopted from a similar program in the Miami Police Department. The program's goals are to reinforce socially desirable behavior, to demonstrate that "good kids" are newsworthy, and to foster positive relations between young people and police officers.
