Come to the City of Rochester’s River Focus Group meeting on January 22, 2014 and help create a new vision and plan for our waterfront areas as part of the city’s update of its Local Waterfront Revitalization Program (LWRP). Staff from the City Bureau of Planning and Zoning will be at the meeting to discuss the LWRP update project and to lead a discussion with residents, business owners and stakeholders about a future vision for the Genesee River corridor that builds off of the momentum created by the High Falls “GardenAerial” Project and other important waterfront development initiatives along the Genesee River. Your comments, ideas and feedback are important and will help the city develop new projects, policies and other recommendations that will guide the development of the Genesee River and Rochester’s important waterfront areas for many years to come.
