Listed below is a City of Rochester local listing of available EPA Certified Lead Paint testing companies. This document is double sided. There are more companies on the back.

The following list represents fees generally associated with lead dust wipe clearance testing:

- Sample Charge: EPA requires that up to four rooms are tested and that two samples be taken from each room. The per sample charge may cost between $6 to $13, depending on the requested processing time.
- Service Charge: Companies generally charge a service fee that can range between $70 - $125 or more, depending on the date and time of the inspection and inspection turn-around time.
- Retesting Fee: EPA requires that any individual wipe test that fails the initial inspection must be retested until it passes. The retesting fee may cost between $45 - $125 or more, depending on the number of samples and the inspection turn-around time. Other fees may include postage and processing.
