We love Fall most of all.

Fall breezes, Autumn leaves, apple orchards, pumpkin anything! Fall signifies that years end is approaching but also creates a new beginning for our youth and anyone who is a life-long learner. No matter where you come from or what your situation is, education — in any form — can completely change your world and broaden your horizons.

And like education, our R-Center programs and activities provide the tools and experiences to explore, enrich and expand horizons for you and your family. Whether it be dance, team sports, athletic opportunities, homework help or learning to be healthier—enclosed are a host of fun and educational options for everyone.

Edgerton Model Train Room:

Within the city's Edgerton R-Center is an historic model train room that dates back to 1950. The dazzling displays deftly depict Rochester and many of its natural and built landmarks, in all four seasons. Launched on October 27, 1950, when Governor Thomas E. Dewey officially opened the “Model Railroad Heaven” with a ceremony that included his driving a miniature “golden spike” into the exhibit's track! The Model Railroad Room was created at the tail end of Rochester and America's bustling train travel era. Although trains aren't as commonplace in Rochester as they were back then, the magic and mystique of trains persists for many--young, old, or in between. The Edgerton Model Railroad Room is a must see-- for train buffs, and for those who could be!

Rochester is a City Connecting Children to Nature

Access to nature is a proven strategy for reducing gaps in health and academic achievement. To capitalize on our resources, we plan to improve access and better connect children and families to nature.

Mayor Lovely A. Warren and the City of Rochester have made it a priority to connect kids and families to nature. We are bringing together a coalition of city partners to help secure a healthier future for our kids and for our city's spectacular nature settings, including the development of a children's outdoor bill of rights and planning for the Maplewood Nature Center (MNC).

Located along the Genesee River and adjacent to the historic Maplewood Rose Garden, MNC will include an exhibit/learning center, the Gardenwood Preschool, teaching gardens and nutrition center.
